

PLEASE JOIN US FOR A LIVE WEBINAR EVENT

TOPIC: FOOD FOR THOUGHT: IMPLEMENTATION TACTICS FOR GROWTH AND MAINTENANCE NUTRITION IN YOUR CLINIC

PRESENTER: Ashley Self, MS, LVT, VTS (Nutrition)

Ashley is currently an assistant director of nutrition at Texas A & M University where she works as part of a team to progress clinical nutrition through direct patient care, research, and teaching. Before her current role, Ashley was a veterinary nurse on the clinical nutrition service at the University of Tennessee for the past 12 years. She received her veterinary nurse specialty in 2018, her master's degree in 2023 and currently serves as the secretary for the American Academy of Veterinary Nutrition (AAVN). Looking forward, she hopes to advance critical care nutrition as well as education/research opportunities for veterinary nurses that promote excelled utilization of veterinary nurses within nutrition.

WEBINAR DETAILS:

DATE:

Tuesday,
April 29th,
2025

TIME:

7:00 p.m. ET
6:00 p.m. CT
5:00 p.m. MT
4:00 p.m. PT

DURATION 1.5hrs*:

60 min. presentation
30 min. Q&A

MODERATOR:

Dr. Natasha Smith

REGISTER NOW:

WEBINAR DETAILS:

DATE:

Thursday,
May 1st,
2025

TIME:

9:00 p.m. ET
8:00 p.m. CT
7:00 p.m. MT
6:00 p.m. PT

DURATION 1.5hrs*:

60 min. presentation
30 min. Q&A

MODERATOR:

Dr. Natasha Smith

REGISTER NOW:

Learning Objectives:

- Understanding Nutritional Needs: Gain a comprehensive understanding of the growth and maintenance nutritional requirements for dogs and cats at different life stages.
- Developing Tailored Nutrition Plans: Learn how to create individualized nutrition plans for growth and maintenance that support long-term health and well-being.
- Enhancing Client Communication: Develop skills to communicate the importance of proper nutrition with pet owners and guide them in making informed choices for their pets' diets.

Attendees (who are recorded as participating live for one hour) will receive an email within 7 days to document the CE credit. This presentation is a live event but will be recorded and made available to registrants for a limited time. This webinar is awaiting RACE approval.